

KKR-backed Travelopia Announces a Major Investment in Croatia

June 12, 2018

Croatia, 12 June 2018 – KKR-backed Travelopia, one of the world's leading experiential travel groups, has signed an agreement with Croatia's Brodosplit to build a new 200 passenger expedition ship designed for operation in the polar region. The ship will offer an unparalleled and innovative expeditionary capability and provide unique travel experiences for Travelopia's customers.

Croatia is an investment destination for KKR as a leading, global investor. The agreement by Travelopia demonstrates KKR's ongoing support of Croatian businesses and contribution towards creating employment in the region. KKR has earlier obtained full local regulatory approval to invest, through its portfolio company United Group, in Nova TV. Through this transaction, United Group will be able to support local production capabilities and step up investments into own content production in Croatia.
